

Vector search enables semantic similarity matching using embeddings.

FAISS is commonly used for efficient vector similarity search.